

STARYS® Manager - Risk Management Software

Assisting your organisation with Risk Management and Document Control

Introducing STARYS® Manager - new Risk Management & Document Control software establishes itself in the marketplace!

At Active Working Solutions, we just added a very exciting new software solution to our range of product and services.

STARYS® Manager is an application that helps organisations of any size to comply with legal and industry requirements in the areas of Occupational Health & Safety, Environment, Quality Assurance and/or Food Safety.

STARYS® Manager has successfully been implemented in a wide range of industries: manufacturing, processing, logistics, private & public health, schools, local & state government, food processing as well as being used by an increasing number of compliance consultants as their primary risk management tool.

The new Risk Management and Document Control software shows off very impressive functionalities, for example:

- STARYS® Manager is extremely flexible and fully integrated, allowing for industry specific templates for OHS&E, Environment, Quality-Assurance, Food-Safety etc. Risk identification, assessment and implementation of Risk Controls are simple and effective.
- STARYS® Manager also boasts a Document Control System to manage all your policies & procedures efficiently. It includes functionalities such as version-control, document permissions, hyperlinks to other items and the web.
- The program also integrates into your email application to set alerts and reminders of upcoming tasks (e.g. implementation of risk controls, review of documents, upcoming meetings etc.)
- Best of all, STARYS® Manager is a surprisingly cost effective solution.

What the users of STARYS® Manager clients say:

STARYS Manager has proven to be a great risk management tool for our organisation and has given us confidence to manage our risks in accordance with best management practice.

L. Nielsen, NSW Maritime Authority

With a background in emergency, risk management and law enforcement i have used many Risk and Document Management software tools and the support and service that we have received from STARYS has been exemplary, and is a reflection of their on-going commitment to providing their customers with an efficient and effective solution that meets their risk and document management software requirements.
